DuraServ Furthers Midwest Expansion with Paul Reilly Company Acquisition

This latest partnership expands the industrial loading dock and door equipment and services available to customers in the Chicago, Madison, and Milwaukee areas

CARROLLTON, Texas, April 3, 2025—
DuraServ, a leading provider of commercial, industrial, and residential overhead door and loading dock equipment, maintenance, repair, and installation services, today announced the acquisition of Paul Reilly Company (PRC), an industry-leading company located in Glendale Heights, Illinois, Mequon, Wisconsin, and Madison, Wisconsin. This strategic acquisition significantly expands DuraServ's geographic presence and reinforces its commitment to providing comprehensive solutions and exceptional service to customers across the Midwest.

This partnership marks a significant milestone for DuraServ, enabling the company to leverage its established commercial best practices and industry expertise to further grow and enhance the PRC brand. Since 2001, DuraServ has grown into a market-leading business, expanding commercial and industrial segments rapidly across North America. "We are thrilled to welcome

PRC to the DuraServ team," said David Iliff, Chief Executive Officer of DuraServ. "This acquisition represents a perfect alignment of strategic goals. It strengthens our ability to serve a wider customer base with the highest quality overhead door and loading dock solutions and underscores the shared cultural values and commitment to excellence that both companies bring to this partnership."

PRC offers high-quality equipment, expert installations, reliable repair services, and a commitment to integrity that their customers have relied on to scale their businesses. "This is an exciting chapter for Paul Reilly Company," said Mike Fitzgerald, President & CEO of PRC. "Joining forces with DuraServ is a powerful opportunity to elevate the experience for both our dedicated team and our valued customers. It allows us to offer an even broader range of services and expertise while maintaining the personalized service that customers have come to expect. We are confident that this partnership will drive growth and create new opportunities for our team and our customers."
